Hyperion. The great Sandow will make his first appearance in this city next Wednesday, May 15, at the head of his own ompany, which has won distinction and favor everywhere. It is called the Sandow Trocadero Vaudevilles and apart from the great athlete himself, is composed of artists who have won great reputations in their respective lines. Sandow alone is a host and a show. His marvelous strength has been the theme of widespread comment and discussion in Europe and America. His feats of strength stand unparallelled by any human being of ancient or modern times, while anatomists have declared him to be the most perfectly developed man physically, who has ever lived. Aside from Sandow, the organization includes some very wonderful artists, many of them appearing for the first time in America this season. There are "The Lucifers," grotesque from the principal music halls of London; "Miss Scottle," the "Tom Browne," double note whistler;

"Amann," Europe's |greatest mimic and impersonator; "Ben Dunham," premier bar performer; the marvelous Jordan family, astonishing nerial acro-bats; "Musical Dale," instrumentalist; "Herr Dewell," equilibrist; "Billy Van," comedian.

Grand Opera House. Sutton Vane's latest melodrama, "Humanity," with Joseph R. Grismer and Phoebe Davies and the original east, was presented last evening to a large and enthusiastic audience. This melodrama is one of the best that have been seen at this popular theater this eason. The play is intensely dramatic, its love story is sweet and charming and its fun of the best, which keeps the audience in good humor through-are of interest and add greatly to its popularity. One is a spirited sabre conest between an English officer and a Dutch Boer, each mounted on spirited horses, and the other is a dynamite explosion that wrecks a substantial

Briefly "Humanity" deals with the ontest between Lieutenant Beyls Cranbourne and Major Dangerfield, a war correspondent, for the hand of Alma Dunbar, a colonial heiress. In the Transvaul, where the greater part of the action ensues, the majority of the cast is besieged by the Boers. Dan-gerfield turns traitor and apparently everything is up with the English, but Bevis does wonders. He manages to get a drummer boy through the lines for help while the fair Alma rescues him from a bomb which the villain has placed conveniently near him for purposes of complete destruction. In the last act, which shifts back to England, virtue is rewarded and all goes merry as the marriage bell.

Bevis was played by Joseph R. Griswold with manly energy and commend-able self-possession. Miss Phoebe Da-vies as Alma was sympathetically amest and pleasing. Dore Davidson as the kind hearted money lender, was excellent. The rest of the cast were all well received. All lovers of first-class melodrama should not fall to atend this excellent performance, which will be presented this and to-morrow venings and to-morrow afternoon The summer popular prices continue until the end of the season. Matinee, en and twenty cents. Evenings, re erved seats, thirty, fifty, and sofa hairs, seventy-five cents. Some of the features of Frank Dumont's greatest play, "The Two Flats," which will appear three nights, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 16, 17, 18, are first of all Harry Watson, rightly named the funniest Dutchman the world; Alice Hutchings, one of the eleverestactresses now on the stage and eighteen bright lights of the farce omedy stags. A car of special scenery all new and bright, plays no small par in this magnificent production, and to orther increase the good things at ready mentioned Amelia Glover, the famous dancer, will appear with this ompany at every performance, and perform some of her extraordinary dances, which must be seen to be be-"Two Flats" matince Saturday, Poli's Wonderland Theater.

Lew Dockstader continues to amusand interest hundreds every afternoon and evening at the Wonderland. It is Charles Mechan, the eminent boy so uch a rare opportunity to see Dockstader at popular prices that very few are failing to take advantage of it. His brilliant genius for digging up matters of local interest and showing their humorous side in the most laughably numorous colors was never so well il Justrated as during this engagement for being here a full week he has a chance to get in touch with the public and know what is agitating our people in a public way. The vaudeville program that is furnished by the other artists is a specially good one, insuring pleasure to all who visit the Wonderland. Next week's attraction, Bonnie Thornton, is a great one, and has already aroused lively interest.
